

OpenSource CMS

A content management system (CMS) is a system used to manage the content of a Web site. Having your website constructed using an Open Source CMS will let you make changes and updates to the text, images, organization of your website without the need of hiring a professional web designer to help in the task.

A content management system (CMS) is a system used to manage the content of a Web site. Having your website constructed using an Open Source CMS will let you make changes and updates to the text, images, organization of your website without the need of hiring a professional web designer to help in the task. We are experts in multiple Open Source Content Management Systems such as: - Joomla CMS - Drupal - WordPress - B2Evolution Zoltis Technologies provides a wide arrange of services on Open Source technologies geared toward assisting small to medium sized business to capitalize on those pieces of code provided and maintained by the Open Source Community. By using Open Source we can help you to bring the costs of development & implementation to a fraction of the cost of hiring a professional programmer code/design/maintain an entire application while achieving your company's goals. You may at any time click on one of the above mentioned OpenSource systems to learn more about how we can help you integrate & implement then into your corporate environment.